PROJECTS

Saas for designers, HueGenius

HueGenius is an excellent online tool for generating color palettes quickly and easily. It allows you to generate color combinations randomly or customize them by adjusting saturation, brightness, and other parameters. It's very useful for designers, artists, and anyone in need of inspiration.

Pablod.code,

Interactive coding community for learners

Developed an engaging social media platform dedicated to coding education. Created a dynamic environment where learners can connect, share insights, and enhance their programming skills. Focused on delivering interactive content and real-world projects to foster community-driven learning and skill development.

My Next Project, OneLinkSpot

A Saas platform that simplifies online presence by consolidating multiple URLs into a single, customizable link. Designed to enhance user experience with easy link management and personalization options.
